BATTELS INFORMATION

STUDENT GUIDE 2020-2021

This is a comprehensive guide on everything you need to know about Battels.

College charges ('Battels') are payable by mid-day, Friday of Week 1 in each Term. Your battels statement will be emailed to you at the beginning of 0th Week in each term and during the first week of August. It is your responsibility (i.e. not that of your Mum and Dad!) to make financial arrangements that allow you to be able to pay battels by the due date. If you are unable to pay your fees or battels by the deadline or you are in financial difficulty please do let us know by contacting student.finance@new.ox.ac.uk

If you have genuine financial difficulties, College will be sympathetic and helpful.

If battels are not paid by noon on Friday of Week 1 in each Term, a flat-rate £5.00 late-payment charge will be imposed wherever the student concerned has not already contacted the Bursar or reached an agreement for delayed payment. A reminder email will be dispatched at the beginning of Week 2, requesting payment of battels and noting that the £5.00 penalty has been applied. If battels are not then paid by Friday of Week 2, a further charge of either £10.00 or £20.00, depending on the size of the battels debt, will be applied, and the debt will start to accrue interest from the start of Week 4 at 5% above the current Base Rate. It is much cheaper to come and discuss the problem than to hide your head in the sand! Failure to pay by the end of Week 3 will also lead to the student concerned being 'crossed'; meaning that all credit facilities in College will be withdrawn.

If you are paying by cheque, please ensure that you have sufficient funds in your bank account, as any cheque returned from the bank will incur a £10 admin fee.

Failure to clear battels by end of the Term, or to agree an instalment arrangement with the Bursar, may mean that access to College residential accommodation is denied with effect from the start of the following Term, and in due course it may also mean that the individual's membership of College is terminated.

Course Fees

Failure to pay the University Course Fee via College may mean that the University will in due course deny access to its facilities (the Bodleian Library, faculty/departmental libraries, computing facilities, laboratories, lectures, examinations). Once this has happened, it could be that New College will decide that your membership of New College should be suspended or terminated on the grounds that a student barred from University facilities can no longer comply with College's requirement that students must pursue diligently their course of study, including attendance, where appropriate, at University lectures, laboratory practicals, etc. Similarly, a student who is ineligible to take University examinations also cannot fulfil the purpose of the Junior Member - New College relationship: i.e. New College accepts students to prepare them for the University examinations. Once again, College is sympathetic to hardship, any student who anticipates difficulty in paying the University Course Fee, or in meeting battels, should arrange to discuss the matter with the Bursar before the Friday of Week 1 deadline for payment of battels. Further details of Course Fees can be found in the 'Financial Guide for Undergraduates'.

In recent years, no new undergraduate at New College has failed to pay the course fee by the deadline of Friday, Week 1 in the October Term, except in the few cases where an instalment arrangement was agreed as detailed above. For 2020/21, the College anticipated that in the region of 24% of its undergraduates would be entitled to support from various University and College bursary schemes, with a further 5% receiving grants from the Access to Learning Fund and other sources of financial support.
